

Inspiring Excellence

Department of English and Humanities
ENG115: INTRODUCTION TO ENGLISH PROSE

Prose: words in their best order
— Samuel Taylor Coleridge

Instructor: Anmana Manishita (ANMN)

Email: anmana.manishita@bracu.ac.bd

Consultation hours:

Mondays and Wednesdays: 9:30-10:50 A.M.; 12:20-1:00 P.M.

Tuesdays: 11:00 A.M.-2:00 P.M.

Thursdays: 11:00 A.M.-2:00 P.M.

Saturdays: 11:00 A.M.-2:00 P.M.

Make sure to leave me an email to set up a consultation meeting.

I. Rationale:

As a fundamental course taken by new students, ENG115 aims to acquaint them with essential genres and variations of English prose, as well as modes of literary response. It includes a combination of short form nonfiction essays and short stories from several major periods in literary history.

II. Course Aims and Outcomes:

The purpose of this 3-credit course is to introduce students to the modes and varieties of English Prose. It aims to generate interest in the students to read and explore more and will also help them to explore various stylistic features of the works.

For a better understanding, class activities will involve:

- Acquainting students with different forms and periods of English Prose
- Styles and variations representing literary era/movement
- Develop a critical understanding of the history and evolution of prose throughout different eras
- Critically analyze texts with references to a range of theoretical frameworks

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Identify concepts and compare/contrast literary elements such as genre, plot, theme, characterization, climax, eras and styles, and representative authors of different epochs.
- Discuss their interpretations and questions regarding literary texts
- Demonstrate well-organized argumentation and awareness and correlation of text to their world & exterior texts.
- Read beyond the surface of texts, and stimulate scholarly insight
- Communicate ideas effectively and work together in groups for inter/intrapersonal academic and non-academic situations

III. Format and Procedures:

Students must participate actively in the class tasks and discussions actively. This will help them create an active learning environment. The course includes both summative and formative assessments, meaning a diverse range of variables in learning will be considered and assessed in this course. Extra tutorial sessions, classes, lectures, etc. might be added outside of the provided schedule if it is deemed necessary by the instructor.

IV. My Stance

Students are expected to participate actively in class discussions and share their interpretations. The discussions will pose thought-provoking questions to students and have a scope of stating their opinions in front of their peers. The classroom is a safe space in which it is expected that everyone will be respectful to their peers. It is ok to make mistakes. What truly matters is constructive criticism which can help one to focus on their areas of improvement. I will encourage the implementation of decolonization and de-westernization of dominant streams of thought. Besides, I will use my teaching to develop skills that are easily transferable. So, students are most welcome to experiment. It is expected that students will maintain appropriate email etiquette when communicating with me. Please state your query/concern clearly so that I can identify the issue and solve it as soon as possible.

V. Course Requirements:

1. Class attendance and participation policy:

Class attendance will be recorded according to the University's attendance policy. If you miss 4 classes before the midterm examination, you cannot sit for the midterm exam. Moreover, if you attend less than 8 classes in total, you will not be allowed to sit for the final examination. Please note that, as per the decision of the Board of Trustees, make-up examinations will only be allowed to the students with extreme medical condition OR death in the immediate family during the semester.

2. Course readings:

Compulsory readings

1. "A Modest Proposal" by Jonathan Swift
2. "The Black Cat" by Edgar Allan Poe
3. "Esme" by Saki
4. "A Clean, Well-Lighted Place" by Ernest Hemingway
5. "Shooting an Elephant" by George Orwell
6. "A Haunted House" by Virginia Woolf
7. "The Ones Who Walk Away from Omelas" by Ursula K. Le Guin
8. "A Machine-shaped Hand"

Recommended readings

1. Greenblatt, Stephen, and Carol T. Christ, eds. The Norton Anthology of English Literature. WW Norton & Company, 2018.
2. Childs, Peter, and Roger Fowler, eds. The Routledge Dictionary of Literary Terms. Routledge, 2006.
3. Abrams, Meyer Howard, and Geoffrey Harpham. A Glossary of Literary Terms. Cengage learning, 2014.
4. "British Literature from 1660 to Today" (<https://libraryguides.mdc.edu/Britishlit>)

The reading list may be changed or revised as the course progresses. The instructor will notify the students if there's any modification. Course readings, lecture notes, journal articles, handouts, and additional readings will be provided during the semester.

VI. Assessment Framework

| Assessment                | Weight     |
|----------------------------------|-------------------|
| Attendance + Class Participation | 10%               |
| Quiz                             | 20%               |
| Creative Project                 | 15%               |
| Midterm Exam                     | 20%               |
| Fieldwork                        | 10%               |
| Final Exam                       | 25%               |
|                                  | Total = 100 marks |

VII. Academic Integrity

It is expected that BRAC University students will understand and adhere to the concept of academic honesty. Students assume responsibility for their work and materials submitted in fulfillment of the course, program, and college academic requirements must represent students' own efforts. Plagiarism is copying, without giving credit to someone else's words, work, or ideas. In the case of cheating, plagiarism or submitting another student's work, the paper and unit earn a zero. Any further cheating, plagiarism or collusion will result in failing the course. The use of AI software is absolutely prohibited and will be considered as plagiarism. The use of any proofreading software that significantly changes your writing style will also be considered plagiarism.

VIII. Accommodations for students with disabilities

The instructor is available to discuss appropriate academic accommodation that may be required for students with disabilities. Requests for academic accommodation are to be made during the first three weeks of the semester, except for unusual circumstances, so arrangements can be made.

X. Tentative course plan

| Date/ Day | Topic                                               | Reference                                                                                                                                                       |
|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Class 1, 2       | Introduction to Prose and Genre                            | Greenblatt, Stephen, and Carol T. Christ, eds. The Norton Anthology of English Literature . WW Norton & Company, 2018.“A Modest Proposal” by Jonathan Swift |
| Class 3, 4       | Restoration Satire                                         | “A Modest Proposal” by Jonathan Swift                                                                                                                                  |
| Class 5, 6       | Romanticism & Gothic Romanticism + Fundamentals of writing | “The Black Cat” by Edgar Allan Poe                                                                                                                                     |
| Class 7          | Quiz 1                                                     | Elements of Prose, AMP, and TBC                                                                                                                                        |
| Class 8, 9       | Victorian Literature                                       | “Esme” by Saki                                                                                                                                                         |
| Class 10         | Creative Project guidelines + Pre-mid review               |                                                                                                                                                                        |

|              |                                                |                                                           |
|--------------|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| Class 11, 12 | Modernism                                      | "A Clean, Well-Lighted Place" by Ernest Hemingway         |
| Class 13, 14 | Creative Nonfiction                            | “Shooting an Elephant” by George Orwell                   |
| Class 15     | Quiz 2                                         | ACWP, SAE                                                 |
| Class 16, 17 | Modernism                                      | “A Haunted House” by Virginia Woolf                       |
| Class 18, 19 | Speculative Fiction/Philosophical Treatise | “The Ones Who Walk Away from Omelas” by Ursula K. Le Guin |
| Class 20     | Generative writing and the human touch         | “A Machine-Shaped Hand”                                   |
| Class 21     | Quiz 3                                         | AHH, TOWWAFO                                              |

